We are gratified by the endorsement of so competent a critic, the more so because he burg, made him quite a long address in favor probably never supposed we would see it, and the Mahonite tail. Mr. Raun didn't make a cu: soruples of delicacy about publishing it are speech in reply, but as he is particularly acx overcome by two ressors: first, because praise lous to retain his office, and is he knows his from Sir Hubert is praise indeed, and second. because we have beard that less qualified critics think we are too pronounced in our views. When worls are inspired solely by liberal opinions and unbiased reason they must touch responsive chords in the minds of intelligent and imperial readers, and b ing thoroughly convinced that ours have no other source, we are by no means surprised at their approval by the gentleman to whom we refer, tu, novertheless, are highly pleased that he orderses them so urqualifiedly.

Notwithstanding the fact that the President is at Long Bratch and has been there for a restriction upon the qualifications of delegates week a celegation of the Mahone wing of the republisan party consergated in Washington Richmend, and that that convention will enyesterday for the purpose of calling upon him and removing any improbable obstacles the delagation of the Wickham or anti-Mahone wing of it, and will not agree to it even if recommended the party may have raised in his mind regard. ing the "earn at and nearty support" he has avowed his intention of giving the former wing.
